

Sissy's Flying Butterfly

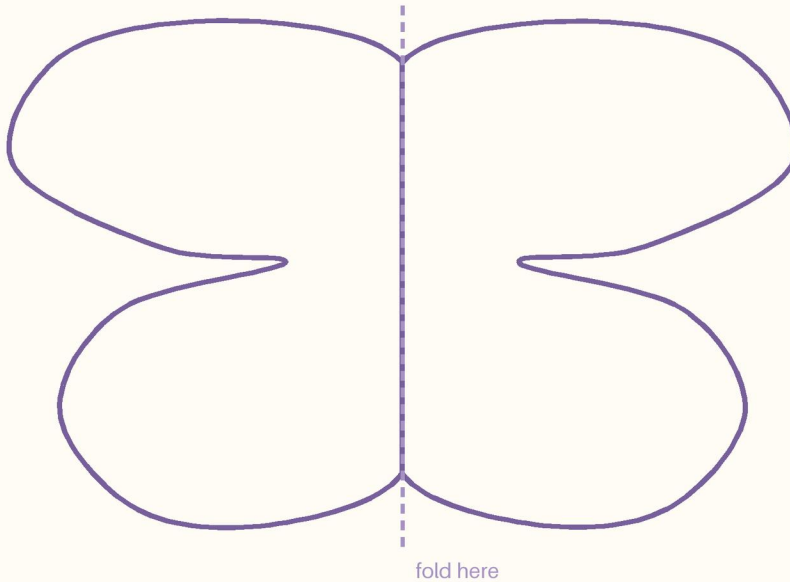

Cut it out, wind it up, and let her fly.

1. Color the wings any way you like.
2. Cut along the dark outline of both wings.
3. Fold along the dotted line down the middle.
4. Hold the folded middle, let go, and watch her fly.

A grown-up does this part:

1. Do the cutting for children under five.
2. Loop the rubber band around the paper clip and tape it to the folded middle.
3. Wind the rubber band about twenty turns, then hand it over.

- A grown-up handles the rubber band and the paper clip. They are small parts and a rubber band can snap.
 - Let the butterfly fly up and away, never toward a face.
 - Keep the small parts away from children under three.
- Ages 5-7 with a grown-up - made by a teacher, adapt freely.
